18 period of time the child is on parole from an institution, or until the child is sooner 19 discharged by an institution.
- 20 a. The court which made the order may extend its duration for additional 21 two-year periods subject to like discharge, if:
- 22 a. (1) A hearing is held upon motion of the division, or on the court's own 23 motion, prior to the expiration of the order;

30 entered foster care, or is continued in foster care following a previous

- 1 (1) By the division of juvenile services as a placement hearing under 2 chapter 27-21; or

11 more than two years.
- 12 4. Except as provided in subsection 1, the court may terminate an order of disposition 13 before the expiration of the order or extend its duration for further periods. An 14 order of extension may be made if:
- 15 a. A hearing is held before the expiration of the order upon motion of a party or 16 on the court's own motion;
- 17 b. Reasonable notice of the hearing and opportunity to be heard are given to the 18 parties affected;

23 order. However, the court may order that the child permanently remain in 24 foster care with a specified caregiver and that the duration of the order be left 25 to the determination of the court if the court determines that:

2 interests of the child.
- 3 5. Except as provided in subsection 2, the court may terminate an order of disposition

13 pursuant to which the child is ~~removed from the care, custody, and control of the~~ 14 ~~child's parent, guardian, or other custodian~~ placed in foster care without 15 terminating parental rights and the parent and child relationship, the court, before 16 extending the duration of the order, shall determine upon the extension hearing 17 whether the child is adoptable and whether termination of those rights and that 18 relationship is warranted under section 27-20-44 and is in the best interest of the 19 child. In that case the notice of the extension hearing must also inform the parties 20 affected that the court will determine whether the child is adoptable and whether 21 termination of their parental rights and the parent and child relationship is 22 warranted and in the best interest of the child and that a further order of disposition
23 may be made by the court placing the child with a view to adoption. If the court 24 determines that the child is adoptable and that termination of parental rights and 25 the parent and child relationship is warranted and is in the best interest of the child, 26 the court shall make a further order of disposition terminating those rights and that 27 relationship and committing the child under section 27-20-47.
