I am voicing my support for the House Bill 1538

Making changes to the current tournament fees and how they are structured is important because they have caused several large tournament circuits to no longer visit North Dakota. That has economic impact to local communities and also our youth anglers and potential new anglers. These large tournaments have educational seminars for youth and new anglers. They give them new rod and reel combos that they can keep and use on their own. This is vital to the future of fishing. They also emphasize the education of AIS and how to keep our waters clean.

It is also important to note that the local tournaments that operate as non-profits have to pay 10% of money raised for their cause to the conservation fee.

Sincerely,

Matt Ristow
