Minutes: Chairman Krebsbach opened the hearing on SB 2332 which relates to the reporting of expenditures for political purposes; and to provide a penalty. Senator Linda Christenson, District 18, prime sponsor of the bill appeared before the committee. As people in public office there is one thing that we have learned over the years and that is that public trust is very fragile. Certainly it has taken a bruising and battering of late, so one of the things we are hoping our bills will do as a holistic picture of campaign finance reform or updating and upgrading is that we can somehow make people out in our public who trust us very dearly with so much make us more accountable for what we do. To make us more open, more willing and certainly more receptive to the idea that we are public servants. She likes to think of SB 2332 as being proactive. This is not punitive and it is certainly not accusatory. It's not something we haven't done it's just something we can do that will make the situation ever so much better. We look at the big picture who contributes to us, whom do we solicit, to whom are we grateful, to whom are we obliged and all of these questions are part of being sure that everything we do as campaigners is on the record. This bill asks simply that at the point of $200 we are willing to report in this case to the Secretary of State and to the record keeping, just to whom we have made these expenditures. My sense as an individual legislator is that these are records I keep anyway. She would not dare be careless about the places where she would spend her money. Money is often very hard to come by and even those who are generous with us, we want to be accountable. Accountability is something that runs throughout the concept of campaign finance reform. In this case when we spend more than $200 we simply list to whom that expenditure was made. This is a small thing to ask. Senator Dever inquired if she might have any examples of expenditures that might be construed as inappropriate. Senator Christenson indicated that in no way is this meant to be accusatory or punitive. She has no examples which she thinks would be inappropriate. Far from it, she thinks just the idea of being up front about where our money goes is the greatest reassurance we could offer to anyone. Senator Dever indicated it seems to him that the only expenses that opponents really take an interest in what their opponents are spending money on is media. That is easy enough to find out anyway. Senator Christenson indicated that she would agree. Certainly there are ways in which we can access this but by putting it in this particular form in the Secretary of States Office this is going to in all probability eventually at least go on line and we want to make it available to as many people as possible. This should not be the Hunt for Red October to find these facts. It should be something that is evident and that we are very glad to share publicly. Senator Kilzer inquired how many of these things are already required by law. Aren't there laws in place now regarding expenditures? Senator Christenson indicated she certainly wished she could say that is the case, but what we attempt to do here is to put everything very clearly in this framework at this particular time. By centralizing it thorough the Secretary of States Office we are putting all the things in one place and making it more viable for people to check this out if there are questions. Senator Wardner playing the devils advocate, saying somebody received $2000 in political campaign donations. They were all under $200 so there wouldn't be any record of it. So you really wouldn't know and then they turned in a list for $1000 of where they spent it and then they used the other $100 to have a good time someplace. Would this take care of that? Senator Christenson If we were to be scrupulous and compare contributions with expenditures if we wanted to do that then possibly those kinds of questions would arise. However, all this asks is expenditures. If we have the entire picture where we have contributions, expenditures, etc. Then we do have a pretty good picture of the whole of organizational structure and the whole process with which it is being used. Because $200 is the cut off point there is a great deal that would happen within a campaign that would not need to be reported. There were no further questions. Gail Erickson representing the ND Progressive Coalition appeared before the committee. A written copy of her testimony is attached. Senator T. Mathern inquired do you support this dollar amount, the $200. Are there specific expenditures that are not appropriate for a candidate. Ms. Erickson indicated that the last part is a judgment call, she does think the people have a right to know how our vote is being influenced and what those expenditures are that are influencing our vote. That is what you are doing when you are campaigning. You are trying to influence our vote and I think we have a right to know that. Appearing in neutral position on the bill was Corey Fong, with the Secretary of States Office. He indicated on line 12 of the bill it refers to this report being made 14 days before each primary election and the 21st day before the general election. He indicated he thought this needed to be changed to 12 days for both. On lines 9 and 10 he thought there needs to be some reference to what these expenditures are made for, and he thinks the term for any political purpose needs to be included. Some brief questions were offered by Chairman Krebsbach and

Senator Dever. Responses were made by Mr. Fong. ( Tape 1, Side B, Meter #'s19.5-21.6).

There was nothing further. Chairman Krebsbach closed the hearing on SB 2332.

February 15, 2001, Senator T. Mathern presented amendments to the committee. He indicated that the amendments were put together with the assistance of Corey Fong with the office of the Secretary of State. These amendments basically clean up the bill in light of Mr. Fong's testimony. The amendments are basically a hog house amendment. It hog houses the bill eliminating the need for creating a new and separate section for expenditure reporting. The amendments add expenditure reporting to the existing sections of law that already outline candidate and political party reporting. In Corey Fong's words this version of the amendment is cleaner and makes following the law easier. It avoids cluttering up the law with a new separate section of the law. Basically this bill would require the reporting of expenditures from political campaigns. The amendments continue that process but make it part of the process that is already in place in reporting contributions. It would create no new section of the law and make the reporting of an expenditure due at the same time that reports of the contributions is due. At this time Senator T. Mathern moved the adoption of the amendments to SB2316, seconded by Senator C. Nelson. Roll Call Vote indicated 6 Yeas, 0 Nays, and 0 Absent or Not Voting. A motion for Do Not Pass as Amended was made by Senator Kilzer, seconded by Senator Dever. Senator C. Nelson indicated that most of the stuff that people want to know about an election, obviously they want to know who major contributors are, and you can go to the Secretary of state's Office and get that. I think another thing that they are wanting to know more and more because they are getting more and more tired of seeing TV ads at least on our side of the state when you get blasted with both states over and over and over again, it becomes how much money are they actually spending? In our campaign on the local level, she would guess that her only expenditure that she would have to claim would be the printing company. It doesn't take long to exceed $200.00. Once you've exceeded it, it's on the record but anything less than $200.00 is just general in the pot, how much money did you spend. I think that this is what this is asking for. Chairman Krebsbach, Senators Dever, T. Mathern, and Wardner offered comments. Roll Call Vote indicated 4 Yeas, 2 Nays, and 0 Absent or Not Voting. Senator Dever will carry the bill.
